

VCS

VCS built software products for organisations such as IBM, SUN, Apple, SCO Unix, Mcdonnell Douglas Corporation, Fujitsu and many others. These products ranged from Unix architectures that connected main frames, transport stacks, messaging systems, communication gateways and emulators. The products were installed and support globally in mission critical environments such as RAF Strike Command, the Indian Stock Exchange, New Zealand Customs and UK Police Forces.

Directors of the Company represented the US Bureau of Standards and shared a number of Standards Committees.

VCS was integrated into RMS Services LTD in 2001